LOCAL NSA CHAIRMAN

No Links To CIA, Utah Student Says

CPYRGHT

No Utah students apparently were involved in the National Student Association-Central Intelligence Agency "intrigue" which has caused a national furor.

Margaret Larson, NSA Rocky Mountain Area chairman and a University of Utah student, said neither local officers nor member schools were aware of the connection. (It was disclosed in Washington earlier this week that the CIA, the government's top espionage agency, had been subsidizing the NSA for more than a decade.)

"To my knowledge, no one from Utah has attended any NSA international conferences," Miss Larson said.

The U. of U. is the only Utah school whose students are affiliated with the NSA. The only other Rocky Mountain schools with NSA ties are the University of New Mexico and Loretto Heights College, Denver.

Administrative sources at the U. of U. said that as far as they could ascertain no Utah student was involved in the NSA-CIA activities.
